Support CSIRO staff as a workplace delegate

One of the benefits of being a Staff Association member is access to individual workplace advice and support, whenever you need it.

Our workplace delegates are CSIRO employees – just like you – but with training across a range of employment issues and workplace matters.

Are you interested in gaining new experience, meeting people and lending a helping hand to your colleagues?

Nominations are now open for workplace delegates. You must be a financial member of the CSIRO Staff Association to nominate.

Delegates are elected for a twelve-month term, beginning 1 July 2019.

You don't need any previous experience or special skills, just an ability to talk to your workmates and the enthusiasm to make a difference.

All delegates are provided with individual training and specialist support to help them make the best of their new role.

If you're keen to make a positive improvement to your workplace and support your fellow CSIRO workers, nominate to become a Staff Association delegate today.

Nominations close 5pm 28 June 2019
