Vote YES to protected action this November

Staff Association members are campaigning for a new enterprise agreement at CSIRO, putting forward a positive agenda to boost pay, fix super, restore rights and value staff.

While negotiations with CSIRO Executive have been constructive and are set to continue, discussions around pay are approaching impasse.

Australian workplace laws require a successful ballot of a majority of union members before legally protected industrial action can be approved.

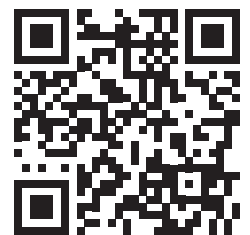

With the summer hiatus of December and January rapidly approaching, we need to vote YES now to enable the possibility of protected action in early 2024, in order to increase pressure on CSIRO Executive to improve the pay offer.

The protected action ballot closes 12pm (AEDT) Thursday 30 November 2023
